TSA Checklist

It can be hard to keep up with TSA regulations in the U.S. as much has changed over the years. See here a full list of what to do.

- [ ] Liquids, gels and aerosols for carry-on must be in a container no more than 3.4 oz, and all containers stored inside of a 1-quart-sized ziplock baggie (only 1 baggie/person)
- [ ] Check the list of prohibited items for both carry-on and checked bags (https://goo.gl/fFwbPJ)
- [ ] If you choose to use a bag lock, be sure that it is a TSA-recognized style
- [ ] Tape a card with your name and contact information on all electronics
- [ ] It's most efficient for security check, should they need to look through your bag, if you pack your items in layers
- [ ] Firearms ARE allowed, but only in checked bags and must be "unloaded," placed in "lock," and inside a hard container. Also, you MUST declare the firearm to airlines prior
- [ ] Pack large electronics like laptops and iPads accessible and/or at the top of your carry-on, to make check-in screening more efficient
- [ ] Keep your ziplock baggie with liquids accessible in your carry as well, since you will need to remove it during security screening
- [ ] If you will travel with your pet, you must bring a leash to remove the animal from its carrier, so that the carrier can be separately screened
